AANAC Fall education Forum – Baltimore, MD

The mission of AANAC is to improve the quality of care and life for residents/patients by providing accurate and timely information, education, networking, and advocacy opportunities for health care professionals.

Founded in 1999, AANAC is a non-profit professional membership organization representing health care professionals in the long-term care field.

AANAC membership benefits:

- Weekly online newsletter, "LTC Leader," featuring timely articles and questions and answers from our national discussion group
- The premiere "Online Discussion Group" for professionals in long-term care with more than 800 participants
- "Need to Know" featuring information that should be immediately downloaded and incorporated into day-to-day practice
- "What's New" featuring postings of regulatory and management information, inservice aids, forms, policies and procedures, and clinical protocols
- Fully searchable "Documents Library"
- Fully searchable "Frequently Asked Questions" (FAQs) related to care for residents in facilities
- "Experts' Corner" featuring regulations essential to day-to-day practice
- "National conferences" featuring recognized experts in the field speaking on the most current information related to long-term care professional practice
- "Quarterly Newsletter" featuring timely organizational information
- Weekly "Email Blasts" that provide members with vital information about changes in policy, regulation, and LTC news

"I am really excited about AANAC! The organization encompasses the excitement of the practice (in long-term care). It is truly the only place that has provided me the validation and support necessary for me to excel at my job."

*Sophie Campbell, MSN, RN, CRRN, RAC-CT
